Archiware, manufacturer of Archive and Backup software for the Media & Entertainment industry provides free licenses to support data security in production. Data protection and preservation of precious assets becomes even more important with increased challenges due to the Coronavirus crisis. The limited-time offer includes a free P5 Desktop LTO Edition license with three months of support and maintenance for media professionals and SMBs in the M&E industry.

Munich, May 13th, 2020 – The COVID-19 Coronavirus crisis has introduced unprecedented challenges for all industries. Recognizing the critical importance of data management and security during the pandemic, Archiware is supporting customers with a free license for the P5 Desktop LTO Edition.

The P5 Desktop LTO Edition is Archiware's professional data management solution for small workgroups. The bundle consists of the products P5 Archive and P5 Backup for use with a single LTO tape drive. The combination of backup and archive provides a solution for maximum data protection. Features include automatic backup and archive, with a catalogue including metadata, proxies and previews. Supported platforms include Mac, Win, Linux, QNAP, and FreeNAS.

Additionally, users benefit from advantages of archive and backup to LTO tape, including offsite storage, the lowest cost per TB and a shelf life of up to 30 years.

“Special times require special measures. As a manufacturer of a backup and archive solutions, we asked ourselves how we could help the many small companies and freelancers during this severe crisis. This is how the offer of a free desktop edition was created. It enables customers to use a professional solution, so that they do not have to save on data security or archiving,” highlights Josef Doods, CEO of Archiware.

Archiware's limited-time offer provides one license per customer. The P5 Desktop LTO Edition, which usually costs 1,200 EUR, is now free. Three months of support and maintenance are included based on the date of activation. After expiration, maintenance and support can easily be renewed via Archiware's channel partners. The deadline to register for a free P5 LTO Desktop Edition license is July 31st 2020.

The P5 Desktop LTO Edition is compatible with single LTO tape drives from MagStor, mLogic, Overland-Tandberg, IBM, Quantum, HPE and others.
